

Travel and Expense Reimbursement Management Regulations for

Research Projects

Chapter I General Provisions

Article 1 In order to standardize the management of travel and expense reimbursement during the execution of research projects, and to ensure the compliance, relevance, and authenticity of fund usage, these regulations are hereby formulated in accordance with the Management Measures for Research Funds and related financial regulations.

Article 2 These regulations apply to all research projects managed by our institute, including but not limited to international cooperation projects and key research and development plan projects.

Chapter II Definition and Scope of Reimbursable Expenses

Article 3 Travel expenses: refers to the necessary expenses incurred by project researchers leaving their regular place of residence to conduct academic exchanges, research, experiments, and other activities for the purpose of completing project research tasks.

Article 4 Accommodation expenses: refers to the reasonable expenses incurred during the period of accommodation at a location related to the project tasks. The scope includes the hotel room charges themselves, as well as reasonable ancillary expenses incurred within the same hotel that are directly related to the accommodation (such as internet service fees, reasonable parking fees/food/service provided by the hotel, etc.). Note: All expenses incurred during the accommodation period should be calculated and reimbursed on a consolidated basis on the same invoice or bill.

Article 5 Other reimbursable expenses typically include: intercity transportation expenses (economy-class airfare, train tickets, etc.), conference registration fees, necessary local transportation expenses, and meal allowances that meet the applicable standards. Specific standards shall refer to the project budget and the travel management regulations of the institute.

Chapter III Reimbursement Process

Article 6 The standard reimbursement process is as follows:

1. 1.Submission of reimbursement materials: After the completion of the assignment, the traveling personnel shall organize all compliant invoices and supporting documents, complete the reimbursement form, and submit it to the project leader through the financial system or in person.
2. 2.Review by department head: The project leader (or department head) shall conduct a preliminary review of the authenticity and relevance of the reimbursement items as well as the compliance of the invoices, and sign for confirmation.
3. 3.Re-review by the finance department: The finance department shall re-verify the legality of the invoices, the accuracy of the reimbursement amounts, and compliance with the budget and applicable standards.

4. 4.Reimbursement payment: After the re-review is approved, the finance department shall arrange payment, and the reimbursement amount will be transferred to the bank account designated by the claimant.

Chapter IV Requirements for Invoices and Supporting Documents

Article 7 Invoice information requirements: The original invoices provided by the claimant (such as hotel bills, airline itineraries, etc.) must be clear and complete. Note: To preserve the independent verification value of invoices, these regulations require that only the transaction date and city-level location information from the invoice need to be extracted and verified in the reimbursement summary and related background materials. Specific merchant details (such as hotel names, restaurant names), itemized consumption items, amounts, invoice numbers, and other information contained on the invoices are carried and verified by the original invoice itself and do not need to be repeated in the background approval documents.

Article 8 Authenticity supporting documents: To demonstrate the relevance of the travel activity to the project, the following supporting materials consistent with the project background must be submitted at the time of reimbursement, for example: approved conference notices, invitations, project work plans, travel approval forms, meeting minutes, or work records. These materials should clearly reflect the travel dates, locations (city-level), and work tasks.

Article 9 Acceptable invoice types: Reimbursement must be supported by formal, machine-printed tax invoices or commercial receipts (Invoice/Receipt). Handwritten receipts or informal slips are strictly prohibited as reimbursement vouchers. All invoices shall be originals or electronic invoices (such as the photos of receipts) that meet the requirements of the finance department.

Chapter V Handling of Special Circumstances

Article 10 Shared expenses for multiple persons: For shared expenses incurred by two or more persons participating in the same project task (such as total hotel room charges for multiple persons sharing accommodation, team working meals, etc.), in principle, one person may submit the reimbursement on behalf of the group, accompanied by a written explanation and the basis for cost allocation. The specific handling method shall be determined by the finance department based on the actual circumstances.

Chapter VI Supplementary Provisions

Article 11 These regulations shall take effect from the date of issuance and shall be interpreted by the Finance Department of the institute.

Where previous regulations are inconsistent with these regulations, these regulations shall prevail.
