

Excerpts from the Administrative Measures for Project Travel and Expense Reimbursement

Chapter I General Provisions

Article 3 These Measures apply to the management and reimbursement of travel and related expenses incurred during the execution of all domestic and overseas projects undertaken by the company. All expenses must be genuine, reasonable, and directly related to project work.

Chapter II Definition and Scope of Reimbursable Expenses

Article 5 Travel and Transportation Expenses (I) Definition: Refers to transportation expenses incurred by employees traveling between their usual place of work and the project execution site, as well as local transportation for official activities at the project execution site. (II) Scope:

1. 1.Intercity Transportation: Includes economy-class air tickets, train tickets, etc.
2. 2.Local Transportation at Project Site: Includes taxi and ride-hailing service fees (such as Uber, Lyft, etc.) incurred for completing project tasks (e.g., on-site surveys, client meetings, multi-location visits, etc.). Note: Local transportation expense reimbursement must be based on actual work itineraries. Receipts should reflect the departure and arrival times and location information. To simplify the process, it is not required to provide the specific names of pickup and drop-off points for each trip; however, the city shown on the receipt must be consistent with the project execution site, and the dates must fall within the project period.

Article 6 Meal Expenses (I) Definition: Refers to meal expenditures incurred during project travel that are necessary for work purposes. (II) Scope:

1. 1.Working Meals: Meals taken due to working beyond normal meal times or dining near work locations.
2. 2.Working Dinners: Dinner expenses incurred for work-related exchanges with clients or partners, subject to prior approval by the project lead. A description of participants, purpose, and relevance to project work must be provided at the time of reimbursement.
3. 3.Combined Calculation Principle: Meal expenses incurred during the same official activity (e.g., team working meals) may be consolidated into a single receipt for reimbursement, provided that a participant list and explanation are attached.

Article 7 Other Reasonable Expenses Refers to other minor expenses that are directly and necessarily related to project work, which require prior notification or a reasonable explanation afterward.

Chapter III Reimbursement Process

Article 9 Reimbursement shall follow the standard process below:

1. 1.Submission of Reimbursement Materials: After expenses are incurred, employees shall compile all compliant receipts and supporting documents (such as project approval forms, meeting notifications, work logs, etc.), complete the reimbursement form, and submit it to the department head.
2. 2.Department Head Review: The department head shall review and sign off on the authenticity, reasonableness, and relevance of the expenses to the project.
3. 3.Finance Department Re-Review: The finance department shall re-review the compliance of receipts, accuracy of calculations, and conformity with company financial policies.
4. 4.Reimbursement Payment: Upon passing the re-review, the finance department shall arrange payment according to the company's payment cycle. Reimbursement funds will be transferred to the account designated by the employee.

Chapter IV Requirements for Receipts and Supporting Documents

Article 10 Receipt Information Requirements

1. 1.All reimbursement receipts must be legitimate and valid proof of expenditure. Handwritten receipts or informal notes are not accepted.

2. 2. For transportation, meal, and similar receipts, the date of expenditure and the city shown on the receipt must be fully consistent with the project background materials (such as project notifications and itinerary plans).
3. 3. Important Note: Merchant names, specific addresses, itemized details, and other information that may appear on receipts are provided by the original receipts themselves and do not need to be restated in reimbursement explanations or background materials. Background materials are primarily used to demonstrate the necessity of the trip and work activities.

Article 11 Authenticity Supporting Documents To demonstrate the genuine connection between expenses and project work, the following supporting materials consistent with the project background must be provided at the time of reimbursement, including but not limited to:

1. 1. An approved On-Site Work Notification or similar approval document.
2. 2. A detailed Project Itinerary and Work Plan.
3. 3. Work logs, meeting minutes, or client communication records that can substantiate the work performed.

Article 12 Treatment of Shared Expenses Among Multiple Persons

Expenses jointly incurred by multiple persons (e.g., a project team) during the same official activity (e.g., team meals, shared vehicle rides)

may be consolidated and submitted for reimbursement by one designated person. However, a list of participants and a brief explanation of the business purpose must be attached. The total amount shall not exceed the applicable limits.

Article 13 Accepted Receipt Types The reimbursable receipt types recognized under these Measures include: electronic itineraries (air tickets), electronic invoices or trip receipts issued by legitimate taxi/ride-hailing platforms (such as Uber, Lyft), machine-printed invoices or formal receipts from restaurants, hotel bills, etc. All receipts must be legible, with key information (date, amount, city) clearly visible.
