

Compliance Manual for Internal Welfare and Office Supply Reimbursement

This manual is established to standardize the distribution and reimbursement process for internal snack bar operations and snack subsidies, ensuring that all welfare expenditures genuinely serve the work needs of employees.

I. Definition and Scope of Expenses

These expenses are classified as administrative operational subsidies, specifically used to provide energy replenishment for employees during office and research hours. This includes snacks, refreshments, coffee, tea, and bottled water purchased from hotels, supermarkets, or professional retail outlets. Additionally, necessary packaging and short-distance delivery fees incurred for the procurement of these items are included in the total cost.

II. Reimbursement Workflow

Claimants must follow the standardized process: Submit reimbursement materials (including receipts and inventory logs) -> Department head review for business authenticity -> Finance department compliance review -> Disbursement. All processes must be recorded in the internal OA system.

III. Receipt and Compliance Requirements

All reimbursement vouchers must be valid machine-printed receipts; handwritten receipts are strictly prohibited. Receipts must clearly display the city (e.g., New York) and the date (during October 2009). For group purchases or large replenishments, amounts may be stacked based on the number of participants and standards, provided that administrative inventory records are attached. Specific merchant details and itemized prices are provided by the original receipts.
